Training Manuals

When Registered for a Course

Upon registering for a course you will have access to all training materials online. These materials are downloadable, but not printable.

For those who prefer learning with a printed hard copy, you can opt to purchase a physical version of the training manual as an additional service. This option is referred to as “Training manual- registered for a course.”

The printed manuals are priced just above the cost of printing. Please note that you will need to arrange and pay for courier services to collect the printed manual.

When Not Registered for a Course

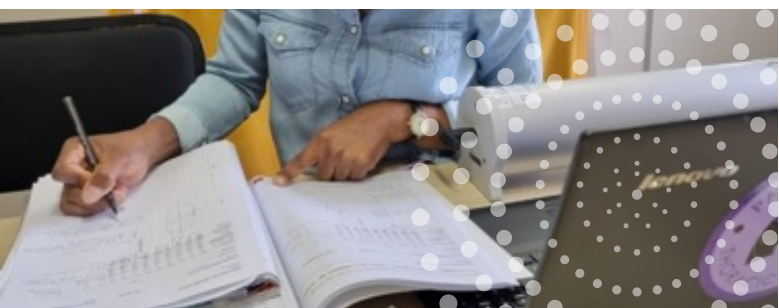

If you are not currently enrolled in a course but would like to purchase a training manual, you may do so under the “Training manual- not registered for a course” option.

The manuals are available at the prices indicated below.

As with the other option, you will need to arrange and pay for the courier to collect the printed manual.

Occupational Health Screening Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs)

Professional Procedures for High-Quality Occupational Health Testing

Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) provide clear guidance on how tests should be performed, documented, interpreted, and managed. Without structured procedures, testing practices can vary widely between practitioners and clinics, which can compromise the quality and reliability of results.

Our Occupational Health Screening SOPs provide practical, step-by-step guidance designed specifically for real-world occupational health settings.

They support practitioners and clinics in delivering high-quality, standardised screening services that are accurate, consistent, and defensible.

Why organisations use this template:

- Supports the development of consistent workplace procedures
- Provides a structured framework aligned with OH practice
- Helps organisations standardise documentation and reporting
- Supports internal governance and audit readiness
- Saves time developing SOPs

Occupational Health Screening Checklists

Practical Tools for High-Quality Occupational Health Testing

Our Occupational Health Screening Checklists are designed to support practitioners in performing screening tests accurately, consistently, and according to recognised standards. These checklists provide a clear step-by-step workflow that practitioners can use during testing to ensure that all required procedures are completed and properly documented.
